Greater Orlando Organization Development Network

An organization for OD professionals who are dedicated to continuous learning, sharing best practices, tools, and techniques.

About GOOD Network

In 2003, OD professionals from large organizations in the Central Florida area recognized the need to come together to share ideas, ask questions, network, learn, and support one another. Out of this mutual need for community, the Greater Orlando Organization Development Network (GOOD Network) was born.

The GOOD Network draws professionals from across the Central Florida region, with some members coming from as far away as St. Petersburg and Jacksonville! We average 200 members each year, including a diverse mix of internal and external consultants from a variety of industries, government and academia. Our members include seasoned OD practitioners, those newer to the field, and graduate students.

Affordable memberships are available for individuals and corporations. All of our meetings, activities and events are free for members. Dues options are available at goodnetwork.us on the Membership Page.

Our vision is to be a network of OD practitioners who are dedicated to encouraging innovation, promoting excellence, and increasing awareness of OD in organizations.
